Project 2

Programmer: James Kelly

Student ID: 801070244

References: I used Google to solve how to convert seconds into intervals of 11 days for the Scaramuccis part of the project. And by Google, I literally mean their converter built into their website, nothing else.

Added Features: I did not see many features that I could add without being outside of the project's scope. Only thing I did was just clean up the output text.

Status: Complete, no issues

The Easy, The Hard, and the Buggy: I didn't really have any issues with this program itself, but one thing that bothered me was how we're directly printing the values to the console as opposed to just using return values.